

Abstract

In displaying data constituting a reconstructed program, an eight bit code is decoded according to an eight bit coding system, and an intermediate code which can be decoded even if specifications peculiar to FM subcarrier data broadcasting are not understood. After the intermediate code is decoded, display control processing is performed.